Foreword by NDA Board Chairperson

Ms Nozabelo Ruth Bhengu

"The Bill of Rights is a cornerstone of democracy in South Africa. It enshrines the rights of all people in our country and affirms the democratic values of human dignity, equality and freedom. (2) The state must respect, protect, promote and fulfil the rights in the Bills of Rights."

The South African Constitution is one of the most advanced Constitutions in the world, however, since the dawn of democracy, the country has been struggling to redress the imbalances of the past, given that now government must provide and treat all citizens equally. The tragedy of our past still haunts us in the form of the majority of South Africans that still suffer economically due to the previous education system that was focusing on churning out employees and not entrepreneurs.

It is in this light that the National Development Agency, an agency of government that reports to Parliament through the Department of Social Development, has been tasked with the mandate to contribute towards the eradication of poverty by working with the civil society organisation to empower marginalised communities. Poverty continues to be perpetuated due to the lack of access to gainful economic activities at all levels of the economically active population groups in South Africa. Those mostly affected are particularly black women, youth, and those living with disabilities located in the former homelands, townships and informal settlements. We need to make a quantum leap from this state of insufficiency if we are to thrive as a nation.

It is with elation that I report ways of empowering our communities are being investigated as a means of ensuring sustainability and a legacy that will benefit these disadvantaged communities through the cooperatives vehicle which will empower participants economically as well. I therefore call upon all of government, the private sector and the CSO sector to partner with us in empowering local communities. Empowered communities are self-sufficient and are familiar with their Constitutional rights. They strive to improve their living conditions and to ensure a brighter future for themselves and their dependants. When this happens, we can all be rest assured that we have done our part in improving the living conditions of our people.

Let us take bold steps and address the poverty in our country, once and for all!

Overview by NDA CEO

Ms Reekeletseng Hlapolosa
Acting Chief Executive Officer

“Help us get closer to achieving our vision of “developing a society free from poverty”

It is my pleasure to present to you this booklet containing a selection of projects that we fund in your province. The National Development Agency (NDA) is tasked with a challenging mandate of contributing towards the eradication of poverty, moreover, during an economically depressed era. It is only in improving the lives of marginalised communities and assisting them to contribute to the economy, even if it is at micro level to begin with, enabling us to move forward as a nation.

The NDA is a state poverty eradication institution tasked with the mandate to effectively respond to people who are severely affected by poverty, due to the lack of access and the means to generating a sustainable income through self-help projects. These are the people who access relief through the social security programmes implemented by government. It is also a fact that without the robust social security programmes put in place by the South African government, the state of poverty and inequalities would be in a far more critical condition.

The role of the NDA, within the Department of Social Development is to provide developmental programmes and projects that will support and provide a variety of interventions to move the South African Social Security Agency (SASSA) beneficiaries to, self-help developmental interventions that will lead to gainful economic activities, income to those disadvantaged individuals and families and the eradication of poverty. Working towards a common goal between all the functionaries within the Department of Social Development, known as the Social Development Portfolio, these entities formulated a strategic approach to respond effectively in eradicating poverty. As such, working towards a common goal ensures effectively designed developmental interventions and programmes that are impactful towards poverty.

The NDA will accelerate the District Development Model (DDM) approach which has demonstrated to be a useful framework to organise, develop, plan and deliver impactful developmental interventions to move poor people out of poverty in a coordinated way. This model provides better coordination and integration framework for all spheres of government, the private sector and civil society will focus their investments to one outcome – the eradication of poverty, resulting in the positive impact on poverty eradication developmental efforts.

Only a multi-dimensional approach, with specific defined target groups and defined spatial perspective can provide pathways for moving affected communities from poverty to sustainable productive livelihoods through interventions led by communities themselves, organised as cooperatives, non-profit organisations and other structures.

I invite all those who want to contribute towards sustainable poverty eradication efforts to be in touch with us so that we can work together to turn poverty around and help our people live dignified lives.

Partnership call to action

Mr Xolile Brukwe
Senior Manager:
Stakeholder Relations

The principal function of the National Development Agency's (NDA) partnership model is to ensure the sustainability of funded development programmes and interventions through establishing and maintaining strategic partnerships with other private, government and donor organisations. The National Development Agency (NDA) was established with the sole mandate to contribute towards the country's efforts of eradicating poverty and its causes, which is intrinsically part of the triple challenges the country is confronted with namely: poverty, inequality and unemployment. Albeit the limited resources and the struggle to link the yields to markets or value chain constraints, the NDA has over the years worked with civil society organisations (CSOs) on poverty eradication efforts and its causes.

The NDA's new strategic focus aims to address the historic challenges by fine-tuning a focus that aims towards more legitimacy, credibility, social capital and control over funded interventions and programmes – including the closer monitoring of outcomes and the deliberate impact measurement of projects. Secondly, there is a need to upscale the existing funded projects to reach full stability and sustainability potential through aggressive resource mobilisation efforts amongst other various stakeholders in the development space delivering and responding to real community needs that are in alignment with the District Development Model framework.

Partnerships amongst business sector and non-governmental organisations or CSOs are common across the world in the form of corporate social responsibility initiatives and undertakings. This cross-sector collaboration pools resources, competencies and knowledge together for achieving greater impact in joint projects. It is against this backdrop that the NDA's partnership model considers partnership best suited to derive maximum benefit in depressed communities using CSOs as its vehicle. Effective collaborations and partnerships consider service delivery imperatives, cost effectiveness, social cohesion and nation building as well as the need to respond to demands of a constantly changing society that must deal with the effects of poverty, unemployment and inequalities.

NDA poverty eradication interventions are aligned with the recognition that people living in economic isolation have skills, wisdom, assets, capacities and productive entrepreneurial energy. The missing link is their need to access and transmit this potential into viable economic activity that uplifts communities through the creation of jobs and sustainable livelihoods.

The NDA calls on private, public and donor organisations who share in this philosophy, that collaborating with communities for their own development, which must be bottom-up, organic and people-driven, which is the only sustainable means to free communities of poverty, inequality and unemployment.

We invite you to fill out the pledge card at the end of this publication to engage with us as a partner in development for a better South Africa, for all.

About the North-West Province

North-West lies in the north of South Africa on the Botswana border, fringed by the Kalahari Desert in the west, Gauteng province to the east and the Free State to the south. It covers an area of 104 882km<sup>2</sup> and has a population of 3 748 436. Much of the province consists of flat areas of scattered trees and grassland. The Vaal River flows along the southern border of the province.

Mahikeng (previously Mafikeng) is the capital. The city lies near the Botswana border and forms a single urban area with its neighbouring town, Mmabatho. Potchefstroom and Klerksdorp are the biggest cities in the province. Other main towns are Brits, Rustenburg, Klerksdorp and Lichtenburg.

Most economic activity is concentrated in the southern region between Potchefstroom and Klerksdorp, as well as Rustenburg and the eastern region. Mining is the major contributor to the North-West economy and represents almost a quarter of South Africa's mining industry as a whole. The Rustenburg and Brits districts produce more platinum than any other single area in the world. North-West also produces a quarter of South Africa's gold, as well as granite, marble, fluorspar and diamonds. North-West has a number of major tourist attractions, including the internationally famous Sun City, the Pilanesberg National Park, the Madikwe Game Reserve and the Rustenburg Nature Reserve.

North-West is well known for cattle farming, while the areas around Rustenburg and Brits are fertile, mixed-crop farming land. Maize and sunflowers are the most important crops, and the province is the major producer of white maize in the country. North-West is divided into four district municipalities, which are further subdivided into 18 local municipalities.

COO's Message

Mrs Susan Khumalo
NDA Chief
Operations Officer

"We cannot seek achievement for ourselves and forget about progress and prosperity for our community. Our ambitions must be broad enough to include the aspirations and needs of others, for their sakes and for our own", Cesar Chavez, Civil Rights Activist

The reality of our time is that many of our fellow country men and women live in poverty due to socio-economic conditions, not only in our country, but due to what is happening around the world. It is only through collectively addressing the issue of poverty, as government, state owned entities, private sector and the civil society sector, that we can address many ills that plague our respective communities.

We are called upon to be that generation that brings meaningful changes in the lives of marginalised societies. The truth is that, as the NDA, our programmes and projects can go far if all role players come together, through the District Development Model, to address socio-economic issues that keep our communities stuck in the circle of poverty.

The NDA has a wealth of experience in community development that transcends the different aspects ranging from strengthening the institutional capacity of CSOs, that implement development programmes and projects in poor communities, to assisting community-based organisations that provide community empowerment services or producing products that are traded in the community and beyond.

Programme 2, which I head, is the engine room of the NDA's primary mandate of contributing towards the eradication of poverty. It is in Programme 2 that the NDA is represented in all the nine provinces across the country. Our provincial offices, inclusive of district offices where we have a footprint, are ready to work with partners and stakeholders that are committed to make a meaningful change in South Africa.

In the past, in executing our mandate, we used the CSOs Development Model, as approved in the 2016/17 financial year and which clearly provided a complete package of interventions to ensure members of the CSOs and their beneficiaries are: selected based on assessed needs and level of needs; provided with a combination of interventions pipeline for registration if not registered, capacity building, grant funding and linkages to markets and possible funders. This is to increase their own resources; and assist in attaining sustainability levels for the management of the CSO and the financial resources to support their programmes.

This approach was found to be inadequate to achieve the expectations of the NDA mandate, demonstrated by increased levels of poverty and unemployment. In 2021/22, the NDA had to initiate a process of turnaround and come up with a strategy that will effectively respond to the mandate of contributing towards poverty eradication. The new model is premised on targeting beneficiaries within indigent households which would be empowered to participate in community economic development initiatives through the District Development Model.

Our rich knowledge of community development puts us at the forefront of being catalysts and key players when it comes to understanding projects and programmes that could make sustainable impact in the lives of people that both the public and private sector may want to invest in. The NDA works hand-in-hand, using the public and private partnerships, through its provincial offices and the civil society sector, to support community economic development initiatives whose main target is indigent households' members who have to be graduated out of poverty.

The NDA, over the years, has learned that development requires concerted efforts from all interested parties ranging from communities themselves, government, civil society, to the private sector. Communities have all the required assets that can form the foundation for investment and support to create community led development and sustainability.

The skills development programme, also in partnerships with the SETAs, private institutions and established CSOs, is aimed at strengthening emerging CSOs to ensure that they are able to produce quality services and products which will meet international standards that enable them to compete in the mainstream economy.

Provincial response to Poverty Eradication

Mr Potlako David Ntlatleng
NDA North-West
Provincial Manager

North West province is divided into four districts, Ngaka Modiri Molema, Dr. K Kaunda, Bojanala Platinum and Dr Ruth Segomotsi Mompati. Dr Ruth Segomotsi Mompati is the poorest district and is currently the furthest from the current NDA Provincial offices. The demographic profile of the province is fast changing as people flock to the mining areas in search of work. It is also projected that the fastest growing town in the province is Bojanala Platinum district in Rustenburg. The unemployment rate in the North West currently stands at 35,7%, with youth unemployment at an all-time high of 63%. These levels of unemployment are described as a ticking time-bomb which requires different social partners to work together in finding lasting solutions.

The CSOs development programme of the NDA is designed to respond to the primary mandate of the NDA. The primary mandate requires the Agency to: " contribute towards the eradication of poverty and its causes by-granting funds to civil society organisations for the purposes carrying out projects or Programmes aimed at meeting developmental needs of impoverished communities; and strengthening the institutional capacity of other civil society organisations involved in the direct service provision to these communities". This programme is key in contributing to the reduction and eventually the eradication of poverty in South Africa. However, the NDA alone cannot achieve this intended outcome as prescribed in the mandate, it therefore has to operate within as well as with all stakeholders and partners to ensure a meaningful contribution towards poverty eradication..

The District Development Model (DDM) as a vehicle for implementation of poverty eradication programmes. The NDA adopted the DDM as its platform for implementing its poverty eradication approach, The DDM is the best framework government has put in place to fight poverty afflicting the poor in South Africa. The DDM provides a platform for all government spheres to collectively invest in one goal, which is fighting poverty, unemployment and inequalities. The NDA, as the Social Development Portfolio for development, has a captive audience to work with the DSD portfolio, which is in direct linkages with the social security agency to target the same beneficiaries, the poor, to balance the need of those poor individuals that required support from the safety net on the one hand and development interventions on the other to ensure no poor person is left to be trapped in the cycle of poverty.

Summary of achievements of the North West Province in the past three years, covering the four district municipalities:

- Over 300 CSOs have been assessed to determine interventions to be made during CSO mobilisation;
- Over 300 CSOs have undergone capacity building programmes in the following interventions: NPO Governance, Finance Management, Project Management, Resource Mobilisation and Conflict Management, in partnership with DSD NW, Department of Economic Development North West;
- Partnership and stakeholder engagements: Over the past three years the NDA has been working closely with all Local District municipalities in the North West Province, including LED units, SASA,

Department of Social Development North west Province, Department of Agriculture, NLC and DFI (Development Funding institutions) Department of Economic develop

- Job creation: NDA NW has created 280 job opportunities in the past three years by supporting 40 Civil society organisations in the North west Province
- CSOs have been assisted with referrals and resource mobilisation to gain market access and resources. The mobilisation of resources from donors and grant funders including DFIs was conducted in collaboration with government departments SASSA, National Lotteries Commission and others.

As the North-West provincial team, we continue to strive towards supporting CSOs whose programmes are geared towards poverty eradication and importantly job creation for the achievement of sustainable livelihoods in communities.

velopment (LED) unit of the Ratlou municipality. In 2006, the National Development Agency (NDA) granted funds to the value of R 833 380,00 to commence operations by purchasing start up machinery, raw materials and a delivery van, coupled with financial and governance training.

During a time when the NDA was implementing the early childhood development “Adopt-an-ECD” campaign in 2015, the project was identified as an implementing resource and as such funded with further funding to the value to R 914 000,00 to purchase a fully resourced truck that travels to rural areas with no access to early childhood development access and provides learning and stimulation to children who would otherwise not access any educational development. The mobile truck continues to deliver these services, in different wards around Ratlou municipality in partnership with the traditional leadership, targeting 40 children a day for 2-hour sessions who then receive a nutritious lunch as well.

In April 2021, TBP applied for another grant to the value of R 396 502,70 to the NDA to expand their sewing and material production and procured 4 additional sewing, knitting and overlocker machines, embroidery machine, servicing for existing machine, raw chemical products and renovation of the existing operational premises.

The project supplies the local markets within the community including schools, churches and societies uniforms. They are also linked with South African Social Security Agency (SASSA) for the school uniform programme to impoverished families. Overall, the NDA funding has improved the project, increasing their production targets and increasing their profit margins to sustain jobs for the 6 members and previous members who have gone on to start their own businesses and gained employment elsewhere from the experience and trainings received at the project.

The Department of Social Development assists the project in meeting their annual compliance obligations.

INTEREST TO PARTNER PLEDGE

The Need for All Hands on Deck

The NDA's efforts are aimed at the eradication of poverty and all its causes. To achieve this vision, the NDA alone will not be able to achieve its mission of breaking the cycle of poverty. It needs all the instruments of the state, private sector and civil society working in coordinated and integrated posture to focus on those classified as poor, who reside in the fringes of developed and affluent locations of the country.

Making a dent in the war against poverty requires investments from every sector to enable the poor to fully and actively participate in creating a future they want, the quality of life they aspire to have and the South Africa they want to live in. Therefore, South Africa needs all hands on deck to achieve the vision and the expectation of citizens living in a country where hunger, poverty and hopelessness are not an everyday struggle.
